

Team Teaching My Experiences

Ian Feighery & Niamh Kavanagh: Killina Presentation Secondary School

Reflection

I have engaged with team teaching on a number of occasions over my time in the PME. Overall I have found it a rewarding experience that leads to a more interactive and engaging learning environment.

I believe like in any lesson the key to success is effective planning. This can be a greater challenge in team teaching as time must be made to work together to collaborate and discuss.

The manner in which you can balance leading the lesson to assisting in the lesson as one of the most beneficial aspects.

Geography Class.

One class that I found really beneficial for team teaching was revision classes for third year geography. Revision topics such as the earths surface were planned collaboratively and active methodologies such as group work or demonstrations could be effectively organized and managed with two teachers working together. Other advantages were the ability to time keep for each other and lead the class while the other prepared.

FEEDBACK

“Different having two teachers but easier to get one to one attention.”

Liked the way you got more information with two teachers

Was okay but wasn't sure who to ask things to.
