

Team Teaching Experience

Lauren Lynch

Cross and Passion College, Kilcullen 2015-2016

Benefits of Team Teaching for the teacher

- Promotes collaboration of ideas and experiences with other teachers.
- Can significantly improve behavioral issues in the classroom.
- Allows for differentiation to take place.
- Shares the workload between teachers.
- Generates new ideas and teaching methods.
- Support and inclusion for both teachers and learners.
- Overall, I felt that team teaching was a very positive experience. I have gained invaluable knowledge from working alongside another teacher in the classroom

Benefits of Team Teaching for the Learner

- Allows for differentiation
- Having two minds in the classroom allows students to hear different viewpoints.
- Allows for more opportunities for students to get one-to-one attention or group attention.

Steps of team teaching

There are many approaches of Team Teaching. The one in which I engaged in was that one teacher taught whilst one observed; helping those students who may need extra attention.

Students expressed that it was nice to have two adults in the room, they were exposed to team work and new insights and perspectives