Strategies for Assessment of Inquiry Learning in Science

Thinking Assessment in Science & Mathematics is a joint conference of the Science and Mathematics Education Conference (SMEC) series and the FP7-funded project Strategies for Assessment of Inquiry Learning in Science. Hosted by the Centre for the Advancement of Science & Mathematics Teaching and Learning, CASTeL, of Dublin City University & St. Patrick's College, Drumcondra, this conference provides an opportunity for those involved or interested to discuss issues pertaining to the teaching, learning and assessment of science and mathematics at and across all educational levels. The main themes for this conference include:

- Innovative methodologies
- Evaluation & Assessment
- Teacher Professional Development
- Integration into Classroom practice

Second level science teachers from across the participating countries of the SAILS project will contribute their experiences of assessment in the classroom.
